Build your business case for attending TEAM 2013

In the current economic climate, everyone has had to tighten their budgets for travel and training. Below are reasons why your attendance at TEAM 2013 is a wise investment for you and your organization:

- You can convey the knowledge you gain by preparing a short presentation and by sharing your conference materials.
- You can earn PDHs for as little as $14 per hour – a very inexpensive way to maintain your professional competency.
- Earn up to 9 PDHs for attending the conference and up to 6 PDHs for attending the workshops. Other conferences or workshops cost much more for fewer PDHs.
- This is a great opportunity to collaborate with other industry professionals and grow your organization's professional network.
- While you are learning new best practices, you will still have time to answer emails and voicemails while attending the meeting.
- In state travel!

"This conference offers a great bang for the buck. In these economic times, the TEAM educational opportunities provide an exceptional value to MoDOT. It's the best in Missouri!"

--- Kevin Keith
Director, MoDOT
